The Dream

On a hot sunny day, the young girl and her horse,
Were dreaming about winning the world's biggest jumping course.
The jumps were so big they needed to fly.
They needed some magic to help them fly into the sky!

But how would they get this flying power?
Because they needed to jump as tall as a tower.
She remembered her necklace that she got from unicorn land,
She said the magic words as she held it in her hand.

The magic came out of a heart shaped charm,
The glittery silver dust sprinkled out of her palm.
The surprised girl gasped as she saw wintery white wings grow!
While the elegant wings grew they started to sparkle and glow!

The crowd went wild as she lept down to the ground,
They had just jumped a fantastic clear round!
She won a golden cup full of sweets and ice-cream,
She woke up feeling happy from her incredible dream!
